

Paul Calamita

Chairman

Paul Calamita co-founded AquaLaw in 2002 with Chris Pomeroy. Over the prior decade, Paul practiced as a full time Clean and Safe Drinking Water Act lawyer with a national law firm.

Paul is first and foremost an environmental counselor and negotiator. He has considerable national experience advising businesses and local governments in all major facets of the Clean and Safe Drinking Water Act and environmental compliance.

Paul has had the privilege to work with a wide range of business clients – from the elite of the Fortune 500 to the local elite – and from some of the largest communities in the country to the smallest towns, townships, and boroughs.

In addition to environmental compliance advice, Paul has helped his clients to negotiate permits, orders, decrees, and a wide range of other environmental and utility-related agreements. He also has handled a wide range of administrative and judicial proceedings and has successfully lobbied state and federal agencies and legislatures on environmental and funding-related matters.

Paul has considerable experience with water supply, allocation, security and regionalization. He has assisted clients with both surface water and ground water supply, protection and allocation issues.
